STAND FIRM.

Says President John McBride to His Strike-ers: "The Coal-Examining is Cutting a Very Big Figure in the Matter."

COLUMBUS, O., May 22.—President McBride received a telegram Monday morning from J. F. Clarkson, president of the Iowa miners' organization, saying: "Everything is in good shape in this state, and we have complete control."

President McBride says he has waived his order that no coal shall be mined anywhere, for any price, while the strike lasts, in two cases. "The first," he says, "was in the Illinois mines, at Knoxville, where there was a thousand helpless inmates were suffering from lack of fuel, and saying that the company that furnished the coal would agree to mine only what was needed by the asylum, if allowed to mine this. This request was promptly granted on the conditions proposed. The other case was in southern Ohio, where a mine was on fire. The operators of it wired that they had only one car-load of coal left to run their pumps. If the pumps stopped the mine would be lost. They asked me to let them mine the coal, and I let them. Since last Thursday morning nothing has happened, and the mine is running. Speaking of the railway employees' meeting Sunday addressed by him, President McBride said a new era was dawning in the labor union world. "Their complete independence was coming to be recognized by the members, and with it the old jealousies between unions of different crafts was disappearing. He referred to the enthusiastic reception given him last week, when he addressed the Amalgamated Iron Workers at Cleveland, and by the railroad men here. "The time is quickly coming," said he, "when, if any class of workers is contending for fair treatment, not a throttle will be pulled or wheel turned by union labor anywhere, until their case of complaint has at least been given respectful attention. No fear that such an organization would be broken up. It would have over it all the safe governor of public opinion. It would not dare demand anything more than justice."

President McBride thinks the relations of railway employees and miners are so close that they can well take the initiative in this matter of co-operation. "The American Railway union," said he, "is going to sweep Ohio. It is the coming organization of railway employees. He expects much aid to the miners' cause from its co-operation."

Mr. McBride is greatly encouraged over the strike outlook, and thinks that victory will soon perch upon the banners of the miners, as the coal famine is now growing serious. He says that arrangements could be made, even now, with the operators, by which over half of the striking miners could go to work, but the ranks of the miners will not be broken, and they will stand firm until a complete victory rests with them.

TWENTY DAYS.

Will Coker, Browne and Jones Spend in the District of Columbia Jail.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Coker, Jones and Browne were sentenced by Judge Miller in the Washington police court Monday afternoon to 30 days in jail for violating the statute of the United States prohibiting the display of partisan banners in the capital grounds, and Coker and Browne were fined $5 each additional for trespassing on the grounds, the alternative being another 30 days in jail. Jones was acquitted on this last charge.

Old Enough to Know Better.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 22.—Mr. Nobleman Berryman, at seventy-five years old, a prominent farmer near Reisterstown, was victimized by three-card monte men to the extent of $1,000. A man called at Mr. Berryman's place and pretended that he wanted to buy the farm, and took Mr. Berryman out in a buggy to look at the land, and while driving along the road they were met by a man who said he was from Virginia. The box game was then worked on the old man.

Pennsylvania Railway Travel Stopped.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 22.—The floods have stopped traffic completely on the Pennsylvania railway between Greensburg, which is but twenty-eight miles from Pittsburgh. The last through train to arrive was the Chicago limited, which reached this city at 10 o'clock Sunday night. Since then no trains have arrived or departed from the east. The trouble is between Johnstown and Altoona.

A New Telescope.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The great telescope for the Chamberlain observatory at Denver, Colo., has just been completed at the astronomical works of G. V. Saeumiller, in this city. The experts who have examined it have admired it greatly for its mechanical excellence as well as for the performance of its object glass. The construction has been under the direction of Dr. Howe of the Denver university.

NEW HAVEN, Ct., May 22.—The retirement of Prof. James A. Dana, the oldest professor connected with Yale university and one of the foremost American Scientists, is announced. Prof. Dana is 81 years of age, and is compelled to abandon further active work by feeble health. The department has been placed in the hands of Prof. H. S. Williams, who has been associated with Prof. Dana for a number of years.

A Need of Life-Savers.

CHICAGO, May 22.—The need of improvement on the life-saving service in Chicago was earnestly discussed at the meeting of the Trades' assembly Monday. There was a general expression of opinion that the present facilities were inadequate for the proper preservation of life, considering the increasing shipping trade here. As a result of debate, a committee was appointed to consider some plan of action, probably in the shape of a memorial to the officials of the treasury department for an extension of the service, or, failing in this, an effort to interest business men of the city.

Breakthrough Will Not Withdraw.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—It is stated here that a committee is on its way from Kentucky to call on Col. "Billie" Breckinridge to ask him to withdraw from the congressional campaign in favor of his son, Desha. The committee, it is said, will promise the nomination to young Breckinridge if a corresponding asked Col. "Billie" about the report Monday morning, and he replied that he was 81 years of age, and is, in view, however, of the recent scandal and his desire for a "vindication," Col. Breckinridge said he would not consent to any such arrangement.

STORMS.

Four Drowned Off Chicago and a Narrow Escape.

Bradford, Pa. Flooded and One Million Dollars' Worth of Lumber Washed Away at Williamsport, Pa. People Taken From Homes in Shirts.

CHICAGO, May 21.—Four more victims were added to the death list from the Lake Michigan storm, which has not ended yet, by the finding of a rowboat on the beach Sunday morning. The dead men were young mechanics, who were out of employment and hired the boat to go fishing Thursday afternoon just before the great gale came upon them.

Two more lives were saved Sunday from the merciless storm-tossed lake by the brave crew of the life-boat stationed at the mouth of the river. It seems almost a miracle, but it is true nevertheless, that Steve Myers, aged eighteen, and John Gelsner, aged fourteen, the rescued youths, had been on the north pier off Johnson street, since last Thursday morning without food and exposed to the waves and cold.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 21.—Train crews Sunday night on the Pennsylvania road reported that they had not seen the Conemaugh river in high water since the great flood. When they passed Johnstown a wreck train was located on the big stone bridge. The company feared the debris would pile up against the structure and wash away the banks at the end.

There is no danger of the bridge going. Just above Conemaugh the bridge is a tangle of debris, which is being washed away. A venturesome boy got out too far, and was carried down the stream and drowned. The Kidnappers' river is very high.

The lower part of the Johnstown is partly flooded, and merchants had great work in removing their goods to higher places. The Conemaugh Lumber Co. had about $15,000 worth of timber carried away. This tore away two bridges, and did considerable other damage.

BRADFORD, Pa., May 21.—The rains have turned the streams in this section into torrents. The east and west branches of the Tula are a quarter of a mile wide. Homes here are flooded, and many families and their goods have been driven out with their lives.

Thomas Potter, who lived in the East branch Sunday afternoon and rescued an eighteen-month-old child that was being swept away. The railroads have been holding down their bridges with loaded cars.

On the ground floor of the Henderson house there is six inches of water, and twenty business houses on Main street are in a worse condition. Sixty feet of the E. R. & P. railroad track has been washed out, and the trains came in over the Erie tracks from Limestone.

EVANSTON, Pa., May 21.—The great flood here has been exceeded only once in the history of the Juniata valley. The last four days' rainfall having raised the Juniata river and Raystown branch twenty-one feet above low water mark, entailing a great destruction of property.

In this place the waters flooded the lower streets, driving the people from their homes, and in the lower farming districts whole families are imprisoned in their homes, unable to be rescued owing to the turbulence of the water.

Three bridges spanning the Juniata and Raystown branch have been swept away. The destruction of scores of mine bridges and washouts on public roads have closed all rural approaches to this place. The Gas Co.'s plant here is submerged, and the lower floors of many business houses are flooded.

Mr. Jacob Miller was drowned at Saxton while trying to save some property. A landslide at Ryde station on the Pennsylvania railroad covered the south track for a distance of nearly a mile, and a portion of the track was washed away. Great quantities of property and farm lands along the Raystown branch is reported.

WILLIAMSPORT, May 21.—At 1 o'clock Sunday morning the great boom with its $1,000,000 worth of uncut lumber gave way, and Williamsport awakened at daybreak to a sense of great financial disaster.

At 1:30 it was not certain that the Ray boom had broken. It was probably a section of the upper portion of the main structure or the Linden boom.

A TRAMP SIGNS AWAY.

For a Few Hundred Property Worth Many Thousands.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 21.—A tramp giving his name as Lucie J. Baird arrived in the city and asked to be admitted to the city hospital, as he was sick. A few hours afterward A. L. Sharrack, land commissioner of the Burlington railroad system, arrived in the city in search of Baird, who he had followed 10,000 miles to get his signature to a deed for a valuable piece of land in Edgemoor, S. D. Sharrack went to the hospital, and in a few minutes paid Baird $500 for property which lies in the heart of Edgemoor and is valued at $100,000. Baird left Dakota several years after having paid for the property, and has been a tramp ever since. The Burlington Railroad Co. has spent hundreds of dollars trying to locate him.

Railway Union to Help the Miners.

COLUMBUS, O., May 21.—F. W. Prentice, an organizer of the American Railway union, stated Friday night that the order intended to assist the striking coal miners by refusing to haul coal, and that not a ton of coal would be hauled out of the Hocking valley until a settlement was made with the strikers. Every road would be tied up, and if the operators did succeed in getting the men to go to work, in opposition to the desires of President McBride and the United Mine Workers, not a bushel of coal would be marketed, for the American Railway union would be in full control of every road.

Worse Than Savages.

Moscow, Russia, May 21.—Six peasants, living near the town of Ostrogorsk, engaged in wholesale thefts of wood from the forest of Pskov; selling it and bribing the keepers of the forest with part of the proceeds. One keeper named Gogorov, informed upon the thieves, whereupon they seized and bound him and subjected him to most horrible tortures, tearing out his tongue, piercing his eyes with pins, until his eyeballs were mere pulp; tearing off his fingers and toenails, and finally trampling on his body until it was lifeless.

NO HOPE FOR JESUITS.

Numerous Petitions, Which Are Gathering Many Signatures.

All Over the Country, Show Great Prejudice Against the Order of Jesuits—Chancellor Caprioli Unjustly Charged With Double Dealing in the Matter.

BERLIN, May 21.—The federal council has not yet acted upon the bill to repeal the anti-Jesuit law, although the Reichstag sent up the measure weeks ago. This delay has caused anxiety among Protestants. Several weeks ago the king of Wurtemberg told a delegation that he thought the federal council would not consent to the proposed repeal.

In the last week the regent of Bavaria and the duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha have allowed similar opinions, which they expressed to representatives of Protestant synods, to become public. On Thursday two delegates from the Prussian church had an interview on the subject with Chancellor von Caprioli. They obtained from him the assurance that he would never assent to the return of the Jesuit order.

At the principal federal states are determined to veto the Reichstag's proposal, and the governments of several smaller states are preparing bills forbidding the Jesuits to reappear within their borders, the exclusion of the order being his fair to remain the settled policy of the empire for years to come.

Numerous petitions, which are gathering signatures all over the country, show great popular prejudice against the Order of Jesuits. The prejudice is a legacy of the Kulturkampf, which gives no sign of disappearing with time.

The Germanical empire of North Germany votes the recognition of the Catholics in vigorous denunciation of the king of Wurtemberg, who is accused of interfering in the welfare of the federal council.

Chancellor von Caprioli, moreover, is charged with double dealing. The Germanists say that he deceived the group of clericals, who helped him in the Reichstag, because they had been led to believe that he would not oppose the repeal bill. The charge is unjust, however, for the chancellor simply held his peace and avoided any significant statement, merely letting the clericals nurse the hope that he was more friendly to them because he had ceased to resist.

With his declaration on Thursday, he abandoned this policy of "lying to," as well as his old nonpossumus. The clericals will reckon with him as soon as the Reichstag reassembles.

SNOW IN KENTUCKY.

In Parts of the State It Lay on the Ground Ten Inches Deep.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 21.—The entire eastern section of this state is covered with snow ranging in depth from ten inches down to two inches. No such weather has been experienced in this section of Kentucky during the past twenty-four hours is remembered by the oldest inhabitants.

A blizzard came, then a terrific rain, and this was followed by a snowstorm which has wrought great damage. At Stanton, Powell county, ten inches of snow fell, doing great damage to fruit orchards, breaking down trees. At Versailles, Nicholas county, seven inches of snow was on the ground Sunday night, and wheat, gardens and trees are greatly injured. At Louisville, Lee county, there were eight inches of snow, and wheat, corn and fruit are damaged. Many trees were broken down. At Georgetown, Scott county, three inches of snow fell. At Richmond, Martin county, there were two inches.

At Harrodsburg, Mercer county, the fall amounted to seven inches, and the damage to growing crops was tremendous. At Frankfort, Franklin county, the fall was heavy, but no damage is reported. At Nicholasville two inches of snow fell on the ground after a storm lasting several hours. At Mt. Sterling six inches covered the ground. At Louisville it began snowing early in the morning and fell steadily for several minutes. In neighboring counties the snow fell for two hours.

Nothing like this storm at this time of the year in the whole of the bureau records for the past twenty years.

The gentlemen represent eastern capital. A car will be run between these cities every hour.

Missouri Fall of Locusts.

DONXIE TARKER, Mo., May 21.—Locusts are thick in this vicinity. Every bush swarms with them. These insects, however, are harmless, except that in puncturing the tender twigs of young trees to lay their eggs they often do serious injury to young orchards, as every twig thus punctured dies.

SEMINARIES.

Their Control Debated by the Presbyterian General Assembly.

SARATOGA, N. Y., May 22.—Theological control was ordered for Monday's session of the general assembly. The debate began at 10 o'clock with Dr. Willis G. Craig, of Macomb, Theological seminary, on the floor. Dr. Craig supported the majority report, which recommends the amendment of seminary charters so as to give the assembly the right to approve or disapprove directors and professors of seminaries, and the right of control over their endowments.

Before the debate began Chairman Gardner presented the judicial committee's report on the Smith heresy case. The report, as already outlined in the United Press dispatches, finds the Smith case in order. The committee reported that it had examined Prof. Smith and the prosecuting committee. The report follows the formal language of the similar report of the Bridges case. It is recommended that the appeal be entertained, the parties having waived the right of argument on the question of entertainment, providing the body decides at once to entertain the second recommendation of the committee, which is that each party be given four hours to be heard on the merits of the case, that two hours be set for the appeal, and that after the parties are heard the commissioners be allowed two hours, no person being allowed more than five minutes.

The report of the committee as to the mode of procedure was adopted without a division. The case was set for Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, and will proceed without interruption until closed. According to the mode of procedure the case will occupy the whole of Thursday and Friday's sessions.

POWDERLY IS NOT OUT.

K. of L. Executive Board Could Not Expel Him From the Order if It Wanted to.

NEW YORK, May 22.—The report that ex-Master Workman Powderly has been, or is to be, expelled from the Knights of Labor by the general executive board is contradicted by T. B. Maurice, of the general executive board, who was in the city Monday, denied that Powderly had been expelled. He said that the subject of his expulsion has not come up yet.

A knight of long standing said to a reporter today that Powderly could not be expelled by the general executive board. He would have to be expelled by his own local assembly. Powderly is a machinist by trade, and is a member of a mixed local at Scranton, Pa. If he was expelled by his local, he would have to appeal to the district assembly. If the district assembly confirmed the expulsion, he could appeal to the general executive board.

FROST PLAYS HAVOC.

With Grain and Fruit in Wisconsin—Frosts a Quarter of an Inch in Thickness.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 22.—The severe frosts of Saturday and Sunday morning played havoc with grain and fruit throughout Wisconsin. The section where the most damage was done is the tier of lake shore counties, extending from a point about fifty miles north of Milwaukee southward to the Illinois line. This territory experienced severe frosts Saturday and Sunday morning, and in some places ice formed fully one-quarter of an inch thick. Spring and winter wheat, barley, rye, oats, corn and potatoes, owing to the early onset of the season, were two weeks advanced and have undoubtedly suffered severely. The fruit trees were budding and were badly nipped.

CLEARLY DEFINED.

Extract From Mill's Great Speech.

The tariff speech delivered in the Senate recently by Roger Q. Mills was a great one—so good that it is worth a place in the limited space of every country newspaper, and the careful study of every citizen of the United States. Below is a portion of the report of the speech as published by the Courier-Journal:

"Mr. Mills addressed himself, mainly, to the tariff as it affects the farmer, and especially the wheat grower. He took hold of that Reed-Lodge speech, for they are one, with the grip of a giant, and rendered it into ten thousand tatters. The new tariff lights of the Reed-Lodge schism declare that our surplus wheat of 250,000,000 bushels per annum is to be consumed by the importation of non-agricultural classes from Europe, who, going into our shops and receiving American wages, will thus have money enough to buy the wheat of the American farmer. Mills showed that to consume the present surplus would require the importation of 54,000,000 people the first week. As we now have less than 70,000,000 population, that would make a good deal of material for the new Know-Nothing party which is only a republican side-show to work on. Mr. Mills showed that it would require all the armed and mercantile vessels afloat on all the waters of all the seas to transport 54,000,000 people to our shores in one year. Then he continued:

"But that does not make any difference. It is a beautiful thing, and ought not to be marred by any such commonplace considerations. I suppose our friends were going to let the immigrants provide the vessels for themselves. But 54,000,000 people have to come here, according to that prophecy, and they have got to come in one year, and they have got to come in time to consume that crop of wheat, and they have got to come with money enough to pay for it, or it will do the farmers no good. What will they do, Mr. President, when they come here to make the money to buy the wheat from the farmer? It will not do to bring agriculturists. The committee were too sharp for that. They said that they must be 'non-agriculturists,' that they must be miners, manufacturers, persons engaged in transportation, laborers, mechanics and others."

"Now, of the non-agricultural population of the United States one-third are manufacturing laborers. Let us assume that one-third of these will be. One-third of 54,000,000 will be 18,000,000, who have to come and be supported by manufacturing labor. That includes men, women and children."

"Again, by the same division of our population, one-third of that number are laborers actively engaged in the shops. That makes 6,000,000 laborers who have to come here in one year. Six million of manufacturing laborers have to be brought by the McKinley law to this country. Very well. What will they do? They will go into manufacturing, of course. How much will they make? If 4,250,000 operatives of ours made $9,370,000, 000 worth of manufactured products in 1890, how much will 6,000,000 make? It is a mere sum in arithmetic that an ordinary Republican ought to be able to cipher out. Somebody else will cipher it out if they do not. They will turn out, if they work as well as our people, $13,000,000 worth of products. We consume $150 per head of our manufactured products. It will be fair to assume of that product $8,000,000,000 worth. That would leave $5,000,000,000. What is to be done with it?"

The above is a sample brick from this powerful speech, a speech, which, if read and studied by every wheat-grower in the United States, would settle the tariff question for good and all, and settle it right. Then he goes on to show that according to the Republican doctrine the $5,000,000,000 (five billions) worth of surplus manufacturing products must be consumed at home, and there would be a most delightful kettle of fish. The Democratic policy would be to export the goods; the Republican policy is to import the people to consume them, and if that policy were fully carried out—to import people to consume our surplus breadstuffs and provisions and manufacture our raw materials, including cotton, in a few years Europe would be depopulated and then it would only be a question of time before we would have all Asia here."

And He Means Business.

Carlisle Mercury: A Popular leader asked us Monday if Mr. Hart would meet their "orators" in joint discussion. Our answer was that we did not know. Mr. Hart is a farmer and stock raiser, and all this interest he has in public affairs is linked with men of his profession and calling. Mr. Hart is a business man, and not a wind-jammer.

In response to the question whether it was true he intended to withdraw in favor of his son Desha, Congressman Breckinridge said: "I have heard the rumor. You can say for me that the old man will be in Congress next time. After that the young man may be allowed to take his chance in the race, but, for the present, I am still in it." Col. Breckinridge will speak at La Grange Saturday.

A PEEP INTO HISTORY.

How the Farmers and Laborers have been Faked.

CAT RIDGE, KY.

ED. NEWS: The question of what is the cause? Who is responsible? for the present condition of the times, has been on the lips of all for months past. Take a man of any station or condition in life—deprive him of his wealth and money through some "gold-brick" scheme and other methods of roguery, such as have been practiced on the people of this country twenty years past—what could otherwise be his condition, but destitution.

Now, let's take a little peep through past history and records and see how the "gold-brick" scheme has been practiced upon the farmers and laborers of this country. Those silly lads who framed and signed the constitution of the United States, provided that the United States by an act of Congress, should "coin money"—gold and silver money. They further provided that the states "should not coin money" nor make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts. This coinage law stood in full force and effect up to Sept. 5, 1873, when silver was demonetized. (Webster defines demonetized as "to deprive of value, or to withdraw from use as currency.")

Should you in some of your "gold-brick" schemes happen on to a genuine block, you could carry it up to Philadelphia to the United States mint, and there have it run into dollars, pay the United States for the alloy and work, put your gold money into your pocket and come home to Betsy, and the children a happy man. That is if you have a Betsy, and if you have not you have cash, which is willingly shared by the best ladies of the land. Well as I have described to you how gold coin is now made the same was true of silver, prior to the demonetizing of silver, Sept. 5, 1873. To fully exemplify how we have been dwarfed and defrauded in finances, led as a horse by the halter, until we have at least reached the awful precipice over which thousands of good men have tumbled to destination, and yet hundreds through blind simplicity bow to "this political gold brick" swindler as though he were a "golden calf" or the "God of all creation." I refer to the distinguished Senator of Ohio, Mr. John Sherman. But it is to be hoped that the honest farmers of this country, who read but little and studies politics less, will have fully comprehended the awful situation and clench their fists against such hypocrites and defrauders of honest toil.

Now let's take a peep at this political subject. When he entered public life he owned a small planing mill in Ohio, supposed value about $2,000. We are told he was a poor man and has been continuously in public life since. We are also given to understand that a public man cannot more than support himself upon the salary fixed by law. Will you now trouble yourself with a short mathematical problem and compute the money he has drawn for his distinguished services as a public servant. You need not go to the trouble of deducting one cent for living expenses. Not a cent, although it would have taken every dollar of his salary. Now just please compare this with his present worth, which is said to be over ten millions. That little planing mill has proven a veritable bonanza sure. It has been the wonder to me that every man has not tried to own a planing mill. Much has been said about this distinguished Senator and his banking company in New York, and the sale of government bonds, while Secretary of the Treasury. Why should a commission have been paid to handle government securities, when the people pay a man for that business. There was no commission allowed in the bonds recently sold by Sen. Carlisle. Mr. Sherman was paid to do this, why did he not do it?

In 1867 or 8 this distinguished Senator made a trip to Paris and London. During this stay there was a very earnest monetary conference held in Paris in which the distinguished Senator was a central character. At the proper time after his return there was introduced in congress a bill the title of which read as follows:—"Revising the laws relative to the mint assay office, and coinage of the United States." No one would suppose for a moment these innocent lines contained a scheme to stop the coinage of silver money, or as they call it demonetize silver, and throw the country into a money famine, such as history has knowledge of. Still it is true, and by thus misleading the country, Congress and the President, the law to coin silver for private use was repealed, and today our silver money abroad is worth just its weight in bullion at its market value.

This distinguished Senator says the Sherman silver purchasing law of 1890 was a compromise. To be sure it was, another "gold-brick" scheme, Mr. Sherman and his followers saw that Congress (although Republican) was going to repeal this infamous "gold-brick" scheme of 1873 and he had this law passed to defeat the repeal of the other. But what was swung onto the tail of the "Sherman purchasing act," Another "gold-brick" scheme. Of course; the silver certificates that were to be issued on the bullion purchased were to be redeemed in silver, but instead of reading silver it was so managed as to read coin. Why was this done? Because the distinguished Senator and his followers knew to change the word silver to coin meant either gold or silver, the effect of which would raise a storm and repeal the bill or bankrupt the Treasury. These "gold-brick" schemers knew they could obtain enough of these silver certificates by demanding payment or redemption in gold (which they had the right to do as the word coin meant either gold or silver) to drain the public treasury of gold and force the repeal of the Sherman law and force the treasurer to sell them bonds to replace the gold. The distinguished Senators and his "gold-brick" associates knew how this would work just as well as we do when to plow our corn. Just how much profit was in these "gold-brick" schemes to the distinguished Senator will likely never be known to the public.

Lets now see what some of our public men say of this demonetization scheme:—Senator Beck, of Ky. in a speech July 10th 1878, said: "It (the bill demonetizing silver) never was understood by either House of Congress."

Gen. Garfield in a speech made at Springfield Ohio, during the fall of 1877, said: "It was put through as dozens of bills are, as my friend and I know in Congress, on the faith of the report of the chairman of the committee; therefore I tell you, because it is the truth, that I have no knowledge about it."

Senator Conkling in the Senate, on March 30th 1876, addressing Senator Hoey, said: "will the Senator allow me to ask him or some other Senator a question? Is it true that there is now by law no American dollar?"

Senator Allison on Feb. 15th, 1878, said the bill afterwards was defeated.

Senator W. D. Kelley of Pennsylvania, March 9, 1878, said in connection with the charge that I advocated the bill which demonetized the standard silver dollar, I say that though the chairman of the committee on coinage, I was ignorant of the fact. May 10th, 1879 he said and scanned (meaning the committee) its provisions closely; that as their organ I reported it; that it contained provisions for both the standard silver dollar and the trade dollar. Never having heard until a long time after its enactment into law of the substitution in the Senate of the section which dropped the standard dollar, I profess to know nothing of its history; but I am prepared to say that in all the legislation of this country there is no mystery equal to the demonetization of the standard silver dollar of the United States.

President Grant was also ignorant of the fact for eight months after, and said he would not have signed the bill had he known it.

Now my friends, you clearly see how the "gold-brick" scheme has been played upon the unsuspecting farmers of the country. We know how to manage our farms, but we have been unable to keep up with the villainous legislation that has brought us farmers to destruction, that a favored few might hoard wealth. My friends, let us continue to be patient; right will prevail. If there is a man who can eat his bread at peace with God and man, it is that man who has brought that bread out of the soil by his own honest toil. It is canceled by no fraud—it is wet by no tear—it is stained by no blood. But for the distinguished Senator of Ohio and the enormous taxes, the country to-day would have plenty of money.

He who takes a bribe will strip the dead, Will rob the orphan of his crust of bread; So lost to justice, equity and right, That man will steal the aged widow's mite, Pillage the palace of the King of Kings, And clip the gilding from an Angels wings."

Into Africa.

That's the way Breckinridge and his backers are about to push the campaign fight now on in the famous Ashland district. It is said that a book of many interesting pages is soon to be issued by the friends of the Colonel, which, besides containing a full confession of his sin, and a plea for forgiveness, will be largely devoted to pointing out the dark spots in the life of his opponents, and to showing up the private characters of the chieftain-Breckinridge leaders. Should there be no mistake about this, the appearance of the pamphlet will cause a sensation. This much is positive; a gentleman has been sent to Louisville and Cincinnati to look through the files of certain newspapers to secure data. The Frankfort Capital of a certain date is also wanted.—Ashland News.

Democracy is going through the experience suffered by nearly every good cause known to history. There are traitors in places of trust in its ranks—men who were placed there with a full understanding of what would be required of them, and who were thought to be true to the principles of Democracy. It turns out that those who were loudest and most positive in their declarations in the past are the deepest dyed traitors in the clique. For instance "I am a Democrat," was quoted in connection with David B. Hill's name thousands of times within the past few years. He was placed in the United States Senate with that declaration ringing in the country's ears; but he was not long in showing that his declaration corresponded to that of Judas Iscariot—"Master, Master!"—just before he implanted the kiss of betrayal upon the Savior. Yes, one of the twelve disciples was a traitor, but the cause of right triumphed, as it always will. The Democracy has no majority in the Senate. The majority in that body consists of Republicans and traitors. They may defeat the cause of true tariff reform in this present Congress, and prevent the fulfillment of the Democratic platform, but the principles will not be injured nor weakened. The Democrats who are Democrats from principle—and thank the Lord they are almost entirely of that kind—will only fight the harder to supplant the traitors and put the party in full power, so that those principles may be put into effect.

The silver agitation in Europe is particularly gratifying to the Administration at Washington, for it is regarded as a strong confirmation of the correctness of the views of President Cleveland.

A Summer Snow.

A majority of the days of last week were as warm as most of us would suffer without protest in July or August, the thermometer registering up in the nineties. But on Saturday a change came which brought snow Sunday morning. It was not heavy enough at this place to show on the ground, but at Blaine there is reported to have been about three inches, and over in West Virginia five inches. Snow as late as the 20th of May is a very unusual occurrence. No serious damage was done to vegetation.

Gen. Wat Hardin.

Gen. P. Wat Hardin dropped in on Louisa rather unexpectedly last Monday. As is well known he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor. It was County Court day, and as there were a good many people in town Gen. Hardin consented to make a speech. The court very courteously gave way to him and a good-sized crowd assembled to hear him. After a brief reference to his candidacy he proceeded to make a clear and eloquent Democratic speech, which it is well known that he is able to do. He was listened to with the deepest interest and was heartily applauded. The fallacies of the "protectionist" idea were plainly shown by simple illustrations, and facts which clearly brought the tariff home to his listeners. Gen. Hardin will speak in every county in the state before the campaign closes.

Where is That Gold Mine?

A gold mine in Lawrence county would "come mighty handy" just about this time, but we are afraid to investigate the following report for fear the whole thing would disappear as a myth. It was a telegram sent to the Courier Journal from Catlettsburg: "F. M. Willey, a farmer residing in Lawrence county, while plowing on his farm a short time ago discovered an ore with the resemblance of gold and silver. He sent the ore to Atlanta to be assayed. The report of the assayers shows that the mine is very rich, the gold being estimated at $190 per ton, while there is found in the same vein silver in paying quantities. A stock company will soon be formed to develop the mine."

Gunnell's Gifts.

Mr. G. W. Gunnell has inaugurated a novel plan of distributing some useful and valuable articles among his customers. He has a nice present for them every week and every customer who buys as much as fifty cents worth in any line is entitled to a ticket. The ticket bears a number and has a coupon with the same number. The holder drops the coupon through the slit in a sealed box and retains the ticket. On Saturday the box is well shaken and a coupon drawn out. The holder of the ticket bearing the corresponding number gets the present offered. Last Saturday J. A. Shannon was the successful one and was given a $6.50 pair of shoes. A silk umbrella will be handed out to-morrow, and something of about those values will follow regularly.

Democratic Pensions.

Thos. Pigg, of this place, has received an increase of pension and back pay amounting to more than $600. This was done by the Democratic administration, too, the "enemy" of the pensioners. How remarkable! And there have been at least a dozen Eastern Kentucky cases acted upon in a similar manner within the past week. The pensioners who read the daily papers can not be fooled by the Republican talk of Democratic hostility to pensioners. The long reports published every day show the falsity of such reports. The politicians who circulate the reports know they are wholly untrue and only do it to hold or secure the pension vote. Unfortunately the great mass of pensioners do not have access to reports of what the Democrats are doing in pension matters.

Spencer's beer is always cold and the freshest in town.

A New Collector.

C. W. Ford, of Catlettsburg, deputy revenue collector for this district, appointed by Collector Shelby a few months ago, has resigned. It is reported that James Smith, of Ashland, has been appointed to fill the vacancy.

The Grand Jury of the Federal Court now in session at Covington is trying to put a stop to the "coffee claim" business which has so long been practiced in this and other sections. Thousands of dollars are annually drawn from the treasury by "witnesses" and others on claims based upon cases gotten up for spite or greed. They filed an indictment against John Pitts and William Riffitt for conspiring to defraud the Government out of money on witness claims in penal and criminal cases. It seems that on December 1 last they placed some whisky in the hands of Wm. Sturgill, of Middle Creek, Floyd County, in quantities less than five gallons, and falsely pretended that he owned the same, and, after purchasing a small quantity of the liquor from him, informed on him for the purpose of being called as witnesses so as collect fees and mileage from the Government. James Eba, well known in Louisa, filed in the same court one hundred dollars and sent to jail thirty days for illegal retailing.

PECULIARLY MADE.
Dr. Perry's Pleasant Pellets are made of refined and concentrated botanical extracts. They're different from the large, old-fashioned pills for those Pellets are as tiny as mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They're made in an airy, proved chemical laboratory under the direct supervision of scientific men. Everything else being equal, the smaller the size of a liver pill, the more comfort. They do not shock the system, but regulate, cleanse and tone up the liver, stomach, and bowels, in nature's own way. They're put up in sealed glass vials, easily carried in the vest pocket. In Bilious Disorders, Sick Headaches, Constipation, Indigestion, Dizziness, or for breaking up sudden attacks of Colic, Fevers, and Inflammation, "Pleasant Pellets" are prompt and effective in action. Prescribe in the way they're sold, too, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.

To Democratic Candidates.

All candidates who desire to enter the Democratic primary election to be held on June 16th must send in to the Chairman their names and the amount assessed to defray the expenses of the primary. This must be done on or before Friday June 1st, in order to comply with the law and to have their names printed on the ballots. This applies to the offices of magistrate and constable as well as to all county offices.

Assessments have been made in proportion to the value of the offices, and if the amount paid in should exceed the cost of the primary the balance will be returned to the candidates, pro rata. The list of assessments may be seen by applying to the Chairman.

WAYNE'S FIRST CIRCUS.

Not Lacking in the Usual Particular.

A town must get used to circuses before it can have them in peace. John Robinson's circus was at Wayne W. Va., Tuesday and the usual general row was on hand. A dispatch to the Post says:

It was the first circus in the town and thousands of people flocked there. Old feuds were revived, and a crowd of 20 men participated in one of the worst fights that ever was seen. After the authorities had stopped the contest, the following were found to be injured, and some of them are in a serious condition; William Napier, cut in the back; Curt Napier, shot in the back of the neck; Mose Napier, stabbed in the breast; A. Adkins, struck in the head with a brick, and is suffering from concussion, and T. P. Maynard struck in the top of the head with a club and otherwise badly hurt. Ten others who were in the row are more or less disfigured. No arrests were made.

Died, last week, Charlie, little son of Frank Cochran. The little fellow endured his suffering bravely, as he was sick but two brief days, when he found he must die earnestly besought his parents to go with him, when informed of the impossibility of that, he then said Jesus was with him and he was glad to go, he turned to his parents and asked them to be good, and quietly passed away. He was only two and a half years old. He was buried with all the ceremony and respect that the parents and Sunday School could summon.

Each member casting into the grave a bunch of flowers as respect for the deceased. The bereaved family have the sympathy of our entire neighborhood.
